Mr. Herbert E. Hetu
Director of Public Affairs
Central Intelligence Agency
Washington, D.C. 20505

Dear Mr. Hetu:

To follow up our telephone conversation of January 23, 1979, I'm putting together the information that you requested concerning the Central Missouri Press Association (CEMO) annual meeting, which will be held starting the afternoon of May 25, 1979, - Sunday morning May 27, 1979, at Kirkwood Lodge located on the Lake of the Ozarks in South-Central Missouri.

Please convey an invitation for Mr. Frank C. Carlucci, Deputy Director of Central Intelligence Agency, to deliver the main address at the annual meeting of the oldest regional press association in Missouri.

I would like to personally invite Mr. Carlucci, his family, and aides to spend the entire weekend as guests of the Central Missouri Press Association.

The best times for the featured address, in their priorities, would be Saturday evening (1), Saturday morning (2), or perhaps developing a program Friday evening (3). Anytime in between, of course, could be arranged. We can develop the convention program around your schedule.

I personally will be happy to set up any press conferences in key areas across the state if you desire. I would take care of all the arrangements and coordinate those meetings with our staff.

The Lake of the Ozarks offers an array of some of the finest facilities anywhere in the country. Our golf courses are immaculate, the cuisine is first class and the overall accomodations are unmatched. Water sports--from jet skiing to speed boats to relaxing fishing are at your fingertips. Also, great tennis accomodations, both indoor and outdoor, are at your disposal.

Your visit will develop state wide interest, and I am convinced result in favorable image-building for the CIA.

We Missouri newspapers would be exceedingly proud to have you as our guest.

I look forward to your answer and hope your schedule will allow you to visit our state.

Respectfully,

Dalton C. Wright
President
Central Missouri Press Association
